

SEVEN NEW MEN WERE INDICTED

By the Franklin County
Grand Jury on Friday

SOLONS AND LOBBYISTS

Sen. Dean Issues Statement That Charges Against Him are False and Ridiculous.

LIST OF BRIBERY INDICT- MENTS.

Columbus, O., June 10.—Up to date five senators and four members of the house of representatives have been indicted by the grand jury. Two senate attaches have also been accused and arraigned.

The senators are:
Isaac E. Huffman, Democrat, of Butler.

George E. Cetone, Democrat, of Montgomery.

Thomas A. Dean, Democrat, of Sandusky.

Lafayette R. Andrews, Republican, of Lawrence.

Edgar T. Crawford, Republican, of Carroll.

The House members are:
George B. Nye, Democrat, of Pike.

Owen J. Evans, Democrat, of Stark.

A. C. Lowry, Republican, of Lawrence.

Frank M. Calvey, Republican, of Cuyahoga.

The attaches are:
Rodney J. Diegel, of Erie, Sergeant-at-Arms of senate.

Stanley Harrison, of Cuyahoga, Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms of senate.

Nye has been acquitted of soliciting a bribe from State Printer Edward A. Crawford, and Evans has pleaded guilty to receiving a bribe, two additional counts having been nolleed.

In addition to these members of the general assembly, former Mayor C. A. Bond of Columbus, and two publicly unnamed lobbysts have been indicted.

Columbus, June 10.—Former Mayor Bond appeared at the court house early this morning and gave bond in the sum of $10,000. He was among those indicted in the sixth partial report of the grand jury yesterday. He issues a statement saying that the charges against him were false and ridiculous.

L. C. Miller, Akron loan agent, indicted, appeared at the court house late this morning and was released under $5,000 bond.

With six of the seven legislators and lobbyists indicted yesterday by the grand jury under bond, Prosecutor Turned and Attorney General Hogan today began to shape evidence in their hands in preparation for the trial. Charles A. Bond, former mayor of Columbus, and L. C. Miller were the last two to make appearance.

Senator Dean of Fremont, Representatives Calvey of Cleveland and Nye of Pike county and Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms Harrison all gave bond yesterday. Following the lowering of Bond's bond from $10,000 to $5,000, Judge Kinkead instructed the clerk to lower the bonds of Dean, Harrison, Calvey and Nye to $5,000.

Miller was accompanied by his attorney, former Senator N. O. Mather of Akron. Miller faces four indictments, one for perjury, one for bribery, for the alleged gift of $100 to Owen J. Evans to influence his vote in connection with the loan bill, and the third and fourth with his alleged offer to Evans of $100 and $400 on two different times on the same date. Miller, Bond and Calvey were all arraigned and plead not guilty. The others will be arraigned Monday.

Columbus, O., June 10.—The grand jury late yesterday afternoon indicted three legislators, Senator Thomas A. Dean of Sandusky county, Representatives Frank M. Calvey of Cuyahoga and George B. Nye of Pike. Stanley F. Harrison of Cleveland, assistant sergeant-at-arms of the senate, was also indicted, as was former Mayor C. A. Bond of Columbus.

The indictment against Senator
Dean is for allegations that occurred three years ago, before he became senator.

In its report the grand jury scores certain pernicious practices of legislators and legislative employees. It says:

"Our investigation of charges of bribery and corruption in the general assembly is not yet completed, and cannot be completed at the present time. We have taken a great mass of testimony, which needs to be properly digested and missing links supplied, which will require time on the part of the proper officials of this court.

Our investigation has been hampered by the reluctance of certain important witnesses to testify; by perjury of witnesses called; by witnesses avoiding the service of subpoenas, and by apparent efforts to suppress evidence, all of which matters will be properly dealt with at the earliest opportunity consistent with the ends of justice.

We feel that special attention should be called at this time to the following matters:

(1) The vicious practice of employees of the general assembly in receiving compensation and gratuities from interested parties to keep such parties informed regarding the status of impending legislation.

(2) The practice of members of the general assembly in visiting bot-tel rooms and headquarters of men interested in legislation and the acceptance of entertainment by such men.

(3) The contribution to the personal campaign expenses of candidates for the general assembly by

CONTEMPT CHARGES MAY BE FILED SOON AGAINST EDITORS

Considerable anger was manifested around Prosecutor Turner's office today because of the publication by papers of the names of Bond and two others who have not yet given bond.
There were also threats made that charges of contempt were to be filed against the editors who were responsible for the premature publication, both yesterday and this morning.

HENRY COUNTY REMAINS WET

Napoleon, June 10.—Henry county voted wet by 392. The total vote was 6,442. The unusual heavy wet vote in the county offset the heavy balloting in the villages, which favored the drys. Napoleon, Deshler, Holgate, Hamler, Freedom and Ridgeville went wet. Malinta and Liberty Center remained dry. Senator Dittmer and Representative D. D. Alexander spoke for the wets.

ON TRAIL OF ARSON KING

Chicago, June 10.—Half a hundred detectives were detailed today to arrest David Korshak, named in the confession of Leopold Dreyfus, the suicide, as the "King of the Chicago Arson Club." The police thought the man had fled, but were notified that he would surrender if permitted to give bond. No promises were made.

CONVENTION OF DEMOCRATIC CLUBS

Philadelphia, June 10.—Democrats of prominence from all parts of the country will gather here next Thursday for the first annual convention of the Federation of Democratic Clubs. Special invitations have been issued to Governors Harmon of Ohio, Dix of New York, and Austin L.
Crothers of Maryland. Speaker
Clark and Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey will be among the speakers.

DECLARED LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Riverside, Calif., July 10.—The new 8-hour law for women was declared unconstitutional today by Superior Judge Denver. He said it was discriminatory legislation.

CLAIMED LIFE WAS WRECKED

Beautiful Showgirl Who Shot Millionaire Stokes Makes Statement

INFLUENTIAL FRIENDS

Will Furnish Ample Funds to Assist in Defense of the Two Girls.

New York, June 10.—Lillian Graham, the beautiful showgirl, who,
with her companion, Ethel Conrad, is being held by the police charged with attempting the life of W. E.
D. Stokes, in a formal statement revealed for the first time the inside story of her former friendship with the millionaire.

Physicians at the Roosevelt Hospital announce that Stokes is recovering rapidly, and, barring unexpected complications, will be able to leave the hospital in a few days.

Here is Miss Graham's statement:
"I want the public to know that my life was wrecked by W. E. D. Stokes.
He is a very wicked man. While I never wanted to kill him, the world would be much better off without him. When he came to our apartment on Wednesday afternoon I demanded that he retract the vile stories he circulated about my mother and myself. I had visited him at the Ansonia on previous occasions with a similar demand. His answer was a refusal, and he put me out of his office with his accustomed brutality.

"I was in great need of money and when I went to him for financial assistance he gave me a pittance. There was no one else to whom I could turn, and I sent Ethel to plead with him. Instead of granting my request he told her falsehoods about me.

"I made up my mind that he should retract these stories. There was no plan to force Mr. Stokes into complying with this request at the point of a pistol, but Ethel had told me how last year she had become so enraged at a man in Plattsburg that she had forced him at revolver point to make an affidavit that he had lied about her.

"I don't suppose that, even after Mr. Stokes became abusive to me in the apartment Wednesday night and actually threatened physical violence
I would have thought of the pistol if I had not remembered Ethel's story.

"When Mr. Stokes arrived Ethel and I were getting supper.

"Stokes thought Ethel was alone —in fact I am sure he had come to see her alone. He blurted out that he had come to get the letters he had written me, but I knew he was lying. He didn't care five cents for the letters. He is not the letter-writing kind. He simply made that an excuse when he found that Ethel was not alone.

"When he saw me he was wild with rage. I was frightened, but I got up my courage and demanded that he write out a retraction of all the slanderous statements he had made about me. I had the revolver in my hand, but before I knew it he was at my throat.

"I was helpless for a moment, but squirmying about I partly freed myself from his grasp and to frighten him began firing at the floor. I am sure none of these shots struck Mr.
Stokes. He seized the revolver and I screamed to Ethel. She, poor girl, thought I was being killed. His back was toward her and she fired blindly.

"Three bullets hit him. But I am sure that he was not badly hurt.
At least I hope so.

"I have made this statement freely. There was nothing in my life to hide until I met Mr. Stokes."

Ethel Conrad is prepared to substantiate this account of the shooting. She issued the following statement in explanation of the Plattsburg (N. Y.) episode, in which she threatened Charles Miller with a revolver.

"When a man with a black, lying tongue tells slanderous stories about a girl, what is there left for her to do but to make him eat his words?
That is what I did in the Plattsburg case, and that is what any self-respecting girl with my temperament would do."

Mrs. Charles Nagel, mother of Ethel Conrad, told Attorney Phillips that she would sacrifice everything she possessed to aid in the defense of her daughter. Mrs. Nagel said:

"Ethel was a quiet, home loving girl until her stage work took her away from us. I know very little about her relations with Miss Graham and nothing about Mr. Stokes.

But no one can make me believe that my little girl is guilty of having premeditated an attempt to take human life."

Other developments made it certain that the young women, who

WOMEN CHARGED WITH SHOOTING STOKES.

LILLIAN GRAHAM

seemed practically friendless when first sent to prison, will not lack influential backing providing Mr.
Stokes adheres to his oft-repeated declaration to press the charge.

Mrs. John Singleton, wife of the wealthy Los Angeles mine owner and Mrs. Alice Andrews, sister of Miss Graham, are now active in the case.
Mrs. Andrews is now enroute from San Francisco and is expected to arrive Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nagel, stepfather and mother of Miss Conrad, had a long conference with Attorney Herman Phillips, after which it was announced that any amount of bail demanded for the release of the Conrad girl will be forthcoming. It was intimated that Jim Farley, the noted strikebreaker, is one of those who will aid Miss Conrad, having known her in Plattsburg.

"It can be definitely stated that

William E. D. Stokes.

unlimited funds have been placed at my disposal for use in the defense of my clients," said Mr. Phillips. "I am not at liberty to mention names of those who have so generously come forward other than to say that one of them is a very rich man."

It is known that among the letters found in the apartment of the young women were three missives from a wealthy United States senator from a western state, who, not Miss Graham in Paris. It can be stated that there is absolutely nothing of a compromising nature in the letters, although the senator who signs the letters with the initials of his name was deeply interested in the young woman. One of these communications is a note by which a remittance of 2,000 francs is transmitted to Miss Graham.

The police decline to discuss the contents of any of the letters said to have been written by Stokes to Miss Graham. Although it has been repeatedly said that these missives were of the most harmless character it is said that there was one letter in particular which Mr. Stokes was very anxious to secure possession of.
This letter has disappeared.

Robert M. Moore, an attorney at 60 Wall street, visited the prison where the girls are confined. He was brought into the case by Mrs.
John Singleton of Los Angeles. It is understood that Mr. Moore will also aid in the defense of Miss Conrad. He was her counsel in the Plattsburg affair.

ARRESTED FOR ELOPING WITH YOUNG CROTON GIRL AND BROUGHT TO NEWARK

Probation Officer James Sheridan returned at noon today from Cleveland, bringing with him Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perkins, the former being charged with kidnapping the girl and marrying her at Covington, Ky., last Monday.

The arrest was made on complaint of Mrs. Nancy Debolt of Croton, who is a grandmother of the bride, she claiming that the girl is but 14 years old. Mrs. Perkins declares that she is 16 and that she is happy with Perkins and wants to remain with him.
They are detained at the county jail until the matter is satisfactorily adjusted.

Perkins is 24 years old and is employed in the plant of the Ohio Clay Company at Willow, a suburb of Cleveland.

Mrs. Perkins was busy getting dinner for her husband yesterday when Juvenile Policeman Harry Morgan asked if her husband was at home.
She replied that he was expected any minute. Morgan waited until Perkins appeared, then arrested him.
Mrs. Perkins accompanied her husband in juvenile court.

"I thought it was a joke at first," she said before being locked up. "I expected some such thing would happen. I just wrote home today telling them that I was married."

Perkins arranged his elopement with the girl by letter. May 30 he left Cleveland, going to Mrs. Debolt's home at Croton, where lived the object of his affections. The next day they went driving, boarded a railroad train and came to Cleveland.

Perkins said yesterday afternoon that they decided to go to Covington to get married because he would have no difficulty there in getting the marriage license. So he drew out a part of his savings here and both went to Covington, returning to their new home here Thursday of this week.

The matter was amicably adjusted Saturday afternoon after all the parties concerned had met in "Squire Horton's office and discussed the case.
Squire Horton and Probation Officer Sheridan used their good offices and Mrs. Debolt withdrew her charges and invited the newly wedded couple to return with her to Croton and spend a part of their honeymoon at that place, the invitation being gladly accepted.

CARRIE NATION IS DEAD

Succumbs to a Nervous Breakdown and Dies
at Sanitarium

HAS MADE OVER $150,000

Dramatic Career of Woman Who Inaugurated 'Saloon-Smashing Methods in Kansas.

Leavenworth, Kan., June 10.—Mrs.
Carrie Nation of hatchet fame, because of her fanatical fight to down the sale of liquor in her own state and the entire country, died at 7 o'clock last night in the Evergreen Sanitarium here of paresis. Her death had been expected since she passed into a comatose state Thursday at noon.

A nervous breakdown, reported to have resulted from anxiety over a lawsuit to recover money due her for lectures, was the cause of her coming to the sanitarium here January 22.

The old temperance worker died with only the house surgeon and the head nurse at her bedside, her niece, Mrs.
R. G. Moore of Kansas City, Kan., and Mrs. George Shubert of Los Angeles,
Cal., arrived half an hour after death.

Mrs. Nation left no message to the world or her friends.

Relatives here stated that the body would be taken to Kansas City, Kan.
Funeral services and interment will be held there probably Sunday.

Mrs. Nation was born in Keokuk, Ia., near Versailles, in 1846. Her maiden name was Carrie Moore, and as a girl it is said she was absolutely fearless.

In her early life she married a man

MRS. CARRIE NATION.

addicted to the use of intoxicants, which created in her an intense aversion to the saloon. When he died she determined to devote her life to the suppression of the liquor traffic. Later she moved to Kansas and married David Nation, who sympathized with her temperance principles.

Mrs. Nation's first saloon smashing was done in the barroom of the Carey Hotel in Wichita, December 27, 1900.
She was arrested and remained in jail several days before she was released on bond.

On January 21, 1901, armed with her favorite weapon, a hatchet, Mrs. Nation made another raid in Wichita.
This time she smashed two saloons.
During the next three months Mrs.
Nation surprised the saloon keepers in various Kansas towns, appearing unheralded, and leaving a trail of ruined barroom fixtures wherever she went.

Remarkably few of the saloon men used violence in resisting Mrs. Nation, although she was assaulted and badly hurt while wrecking a bar at Enterprise, Kan. By this time the state of Kansas was in a ferment. Aroused by the spirit of the dauntless woman from Kentucky, the people began to demand that all the saloons be closed.

Smashing parties were organized all over the state. The saloon power was being wrecked. As a result of the agitation bills were passed by the legis-

51 NORTH FOURTH ST.
BOTH PHONES. WAGON CALLS

Mrs. Clark Cochran was hostess Friday afternoon to the members of the Ladies Diversion club at her pretty country home near Hebron. Forty tables of players participated in the game of pedro, the prizes being awarded Mrs. Guy Huffman and Mrs. Milton Downey. A two course dinner was served to the members: Mesdames George Glaninger, Edward Woodward, William Sharratt, W. L. Jackson, John Sharratt, Edwin Kelly, Edward Nutter, Link Russell, George Jones, J. P. Lamb, J. B. Burch, Milton Downey, Ben Balzer, Nelson Vanatta, Guy Huffman, Mary Balzer, and Jenkin Jones guest, Mrs. P. P. Comestford.

In two weeks the club will hold its last meeting and arrangements will be made to reorganize the club. Mrs. W. L. Jackson of 117 North Sixth street will be hostess.

The Philathea club will entertain at the home of Misses Louise and Henrietta Butler in Eddy street on Monday evening.

Mrs. Dr. Wagner of German street entertained with a very pretty dinner party Thursday evening, honoring Mr. Anderson of Pennsylvania. Covers were laid for Mr. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. William Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ingman, Mrs. Charles Long, Mrs. Mary Webber, Mrs. Rebecca Harter and Gretchen Griffith of Jacksonville.

The members of the Holophone company are enjoying an outing this afternoon at Buckeye Lake Park. The party left the city on a special excursion car at three o'clock and will spend the remainder of the evening in the enjoyment of the amusements the summer resort offers. A picnic supper will be served.

Those making up the party are: Mrs. Keller, Mrs. Bernard Graham, Mrs. Carpenter, Misses Hawke, M. H. Roy, Harriet Roy, Edith Walker, Irene Hawthorne, Sadie Jones, Katherine Colman, Mary Swann, Ethel Fryman, Mary Danher, Fairy Lock, Ethel Harrington, Lois Hines, Ethel Graham, Edith Riffey, Inez Jones, Dolly Warrington, Nora Costello, Ada Hiler and Nellie Jones.

Messrs. R. M. Frost, P. F. Larson, H. C. Schreiner, E. B. Rowe, Walter Triffin, Shelling, P. L. Warner, E. B. Gray, Paul Weaver, Lindsey, W. J. Cady, Haffner, Ray Ellis, Guy de Lasterville, F. S. The Sewing society of the Trinity church will meet at the home of Mrs. Julian Long in Granville street on next Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Jerome Ferguson charmingly entertained the members of the Thursday Afternoon Bridge club on the club day of this week at her home in East Main street. Several tables of players participated in the game and a delicious luncheon was served.

The Juniors of the Newark High school entertained with their annual "prom" on Friday evening at the pavilion of Moundbuilders Park. The park orchestra furnished a delightful program and dancing was enjoyed from eight to twelve o'clock. About seventy-five couples were present. Punch was dispensed throughout the evening.

MATTINGLY—KILICK.
At 4 o'clock Friday, Rev. L. C. Sparks, joined in matrimony Mr. George Francis Mattingly and Miss Myrtle C. Kilick.

The groom is the son of Dr. Mattingly, a former resident of this city, but now of Johnston, and his bride is the granddaughter of Mr. Lee Tippe, a prominent farmer of Johnston. The young people were attended by Mr. George Lane and wife, who are special friends of the wedded pair. A host of friends joined in best wishes. They will reside in Johnston.

VINNING—JEWELL.
On Wednesday evening at eight o'clock Rev. T. A. Cosgrove read the marriage service uniting in marriage Mr. Charles A. Vinning and Miss Mable R. Jewell. The ceremony was solemnized at the manse of the Second Presbyterian church. The couple was accompanied by Mrs. Susan Lynn, Miss Beatrice Vinning, Miss Bessie Vining, Miss Pearl Jewell, Ora Jewell, Troy Davis and Charles Jackson. They will reside in Stanbury street.

One good turn deserves another, but it doesn't always get an encore.

TWO LOVES

A Story Showing What Dress Has to Do With the Affections

By Karl Sommers

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

When the Revolutionary war broke out the men who collected to fight on the patriot side came from the farm, the workshop, the country store—indeed, from the then few simple vocations in which the colonists engaged. They were soldiers neither in training nor dress and were looked upon by the British well drilled and handsomely uniformed officers and men with the contempt regular troops entertain for a mob.

One day—it was in 1778—a regiment of American patriots were marching along a road in the vicinity of Elizabethtown, N. J. It was in the spring following the memorable winter when Washington's army suffered at Valley Forge. Not only were the leaves sprouting under the warm rays of the returning sun, but news had come that France was to send an army to help the colonies. Nevertheless the regiment marching through New Jersey was a tattered and weary lot. They were all hungry, and whenever they passed a house where a patriotic farmer's wife would bring out a pail of milk and a few loaves of stale bread they would fall out of the ranks, if there were ranks, to satisfy their appetites.

At the gate of one of these farmhouses stood a girl of seventeen, who had been sent out by her mother with a tin pan full of doughnuts. The cakes were nearly all gone as well as the men who had taken them when a young soldier, very pale and with large, deep sunken eyes, bespeaking illness, approached the girl, laid his musket against the fence and sat down on the mounting stone before the gate. There was one doughnut left in the pan, which the girl offered him, but he was too ill to relish it. He sat for a few minutes resting his head on the palms of his hands, his elbows on his knees, then, casting a glance at the last straggling files of his comrades, arose and took up his musket to follow them. But there was something that troubled him far more than his trembling limbs. He wore little of that which is the pride of a soldier—uniform—and what there was of it was torn and soiled. A young girl was looking at him sympathetically with a pair of tender brown eyes, and to leave her he must expose his rear, and from a hole in the seat of his trousers protruded a portion of his shirt tail. How could a soldier expose such ignominy? But while he stood deploring the necessity of doing so a darkness came before his eyes, he tottered, and the girl caught him before he fell.

It was several weeks before the young soldier, Abner Wicks, was well enough to leave the farmhouse, and when he was his departure was made painful from the fact that he must leave his heart with the little girl who had nursed him. True, her mother had done the greater part of the nursing, but the daughter had done the loving. Lucy Barton was of an age when love comes easily and from many causes. In this case it arose from pity. Abner was but a year older than she, and he loved her because her eyes were brown and because she pined him. It was a love that might be broken as easily as it had come or might endure when both, with locks white as snow, should totter arm in arm together.

One morning Abner took up his musket to go and rejoin his regiment. His moving away was not so embarrassing as it would have been a few weeks before, for Lucy's mother had patched the seat of his trousers. Nevertheless there was nothing in his appearance to inspire such admiration as is often given a soldierly man in a becoming uniform.

Abner had waved his hat—not his handkerchief, for he had no handkerchief—from a crest a short distance from the farmhouse and had passed out of sight when a vision of another kind appeared in the direction opposite from that in which he was going. A British general and his staff, all on horseback, came careering toward the farmhouse. Their coats were scarlet, covered with gold lace, and the sun glittered on their brass buttons and their side arms. Here surely was something admirable for the eye to rest upon. There was not a rip in any man's uniform, not a rusty spot on any saber, not a tarnished bit of lace.

They trotted on up to Farmer Barton's house, and the general, calling Mrs. Barton—the farmer was at Valley Forge—asked if there was a creek or a spring near by. She told him there was a brook farther on, but if he wished water only for the party he had with him she had a plenty in her well, to which he was welcome.

During the brief chat Lucy, who stood by her mother and was looking with admiring eyes at the group of equestrians whose chargers were impatiently pawing the ground, could not help contrasting their appearance with that of those ragged Continentals who had passed the house a few weeks before. There was in the party a blue eyed, flaxen haired young Britisher with real English roses in his cheeks, who sat on his horse admiring her simple country beauty, and she thought how different he was from the boy who but a few minutes before she had watched retreating down the road, the two prominent objects in his dress being the patches—one square, the other round—in his seat and especially noticeable from their color being different from that of his trousers and from each other.

It is a blow to our ideas of human constancy to contemplate the change that immediately came over Lucy Barton's heart, for she immediately withdrew it from Abner and gave it to the young British aid-de-camp. And yet in view of the circumstances can we blame her? The contrast between the Continentals' girth and the British regular's red coat, buff breeches, high top boots and resplendent decorations was too much for the seventeen-year-old Lucy, who had thus far seen men dressed only in the linsey woolsey of the period.

The British general concluded to remain a few days where he was, making his headquarters in the Barton farmhouse. In three days Captain Arthur Claverly made a greater inroad upon Lucy's heart than Abner Wicks had made in three weeks. True, the Britisher had no use for her heart, but a common sense view of the situation had no place in either of them. At the end of the three days he rode away, gayly kissing his hand to the little girl who looked after him. She had looked after Abner with the same longing, but a longing that sprang from a different source. She had pitied him; young Claverly had dazzled her.

Three years passed, Lucy Barton remembered her two lovers with their two very different uniforms. The Britisher engaged the larger part of the thoughts she gave to both, but in Abner's forlorn appearance there was always something that caused little ripples to pass over her heart. Moreover, she was now twenty years old and had become deeply interested in the struggle between what were now the United States and England.

Then there were passings of American troops southward—horse, foot, dragoons, artillery. They were going to Yorktown for the last campaign of the war. One morning before daylight the watch in Philadelphia who called the hour announced that the British army had surrendered. The news spread all over the country and reached the Barton farmhouse.

Not long after this the American troops began to pass Barton's, moving northward. It was late in October, and the leaves had fallen from the trees. One evening Lucy Barton, returning from milking, heard a clatter of horses' hoofs behind her and turned just in time to see the general and his staff who three years before had spent some days at her home gallop past. Their heads were bowed in mortification, for they were paroled prisoners of war going to New York to return from there to England. Lucy saw among them the young officer who had so quickly taken her heart from the Continental, but he failed to recognize her.

A week later a regiment of United States infantry marched northward by the house and with a very different men. Their heads were held high; their step was springy, their whole appearance triumphant. At their head rode their colonel, a youngster who had attained the command only a short time before and in passing through Philadelphia had purchased a brand new uniform. He was Abner Wicks, who had for three years been rising in rank and had especially distinguished himself during the fighting at Yorktown. He had resolved that if he while yet a soldier should again see Lucy Barton it should not be under such demeaning conditions as before.

As Lucy's British lover did not recognize her, so she did not recognize Abner. Indeed, he looked so brave and strong and proud in his new uniform that she was about to give her heart for a third time to a soldier who this time was not only finely dressed, but a victor, when the young colonel threw himself from his horse and, in the exuberance of his joy, took her into his arms before the whole regiment.

So ended the story of this love which in its ineptness had no other inducement than a tattered uniform, but which after the two were married and settled grew each year they lived together till it absorbed all their being. Yet lovers go on year after year taking their chances upon such small reasons, but who shall say that those marriages that are better considered turn out happier?

MARIETTA GETS THE ENDOWMENT

College Town Celebrates in a Fitting Manner.

STUDENTS GIVEN A HOLIDAY

Success of the Movement Due in Part to Active Interest Taken by the Business Men of the Pioneer City. Alumni Associations of New York, Boston and Chicago Send Thousands of Dollars.

Last Friday night the celebration of the raising of the $300,000 seventh anniversary endowment fund of Marietta College made the pioneer city bright with illuminations and fireworks. The time limit set by the General Education Board was midnight of June 1. At noon of that day some eleven thousand dollars was lacking, $341,000 being necessary to fulfill the board's condition of paying the college debt and raising the endowment fund. At 9:30 that evening the pealing of the College bell announced to the city that the full amount was pledged. Seven hundred and seven donors in all parts of the country had given a total of $259,275, thus securing the conditional gifts of $60,000 made by the General Education Board and of $25,000 made by Mr. Carnegie. A holiday was given the students on Friday, and on that evening students and citizens paraded the city with the Marietta band, all the bells of the city were rung, the College buildings and many houses were illuminated, fireworks were sent off on the campus, and the students' enthusiasm prepared a monster bonfire.

Co-operation of the City. This fund more than doubles the present endowment, relieves the College of debt, and establishes it on a firm foundation. The success of the movement was in part due to the active interest taken in the campaign by the business men of the city. A board of trade committee on education worked faithfully throughout the last two weeks, bringing home to the business men of Marietta the value of the College as a commercial asset to the city. Nearly $20,000 was raised by this committee in the last 10 days, in addition to large sums previously given by leading citizens.

While many have assisted in this enterprise by active effort to secure pledges, yet the chief credit for the splendid result is due to Mr. William W. Mills, the treasurer of the College and the chairman of the endowment committee, who has given much time and thought to achieve this success. The Marietta Alumni associations in Boston, New York, Chicago and Cincinnati were active in the campaign, bringing thousands of dollars to their Alma Mater through loyal sacrifice and by interesting wealthy friends.

Recent Growth.
In the past 10 years Marietta College has shown vigorous life. The College faculty has increased 43 percent in numbers. The enrollment in the four College classes has increased 49 percent, while four of the present nine buildings of the College have been erected, including the library. This latter building is one of the most beautiful in the state, with ample reading rooms and a fire-proof stack with a capacity of 200,000 volumes.

A Summer Term.
A Summer session has also been inaugurated, which seeks to aid teachers preparing for examination and students deficient in preparation for College. This six weeks' term, beginning this year on June 26, has proved most effective.

Of great general interest to the public is the growth of the Historical Museum and the Slack Collection of documents and Prints, both to be seen on the Marietta College campus. The latter collection numbers some eight hundred rare manuscript letters and documents of famous Americans. The Historical Museum contains over 20,000 relics, manuscripts and curios relating to western history. Among the recent additions is the letter of Aaron Burr in 1833 to the secretary of war asking for a pension. The "Ohio Company" and "Hennepin-sett" cases are of intense interest.

Delmonico Ice Cream. Scald one pint of milk; add the yolks of six eggs beaten until light with one cupful of sugar and stir until the mixture thickens. Take from the fire, add one pint of cream; when cool add one tablespoonful of vanilla or any preferred flavoring and freeze.

Old-fashioned Pound Cake. Wash one pound of butter then cream it thoroughly. Add gradually one pound of fine sugar, beating it until very smooth; add alternately one pound of sifted pastry flour and ten good sized eggs well beaten, and beat hard for fully twenty minutes as the success and fine grain of the cake depends wholly on the thoroughness of the beating. Now beat in two tablespoonfuls of vanilla; add blanched and sliced almonds or sliced citron if desired, pour the batter into a pan lined with paper and bake in a moderate oven.

Wins Fight for Life.

It was a long and bloody battle for life that was waged by James B. Mershon of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from lung hemorrhages, and was very weak and run down. For eight months I was unable to work. Death seemed close on my heels, when I began, three weeks ago, to use Dr. King's New Discovery. But it has helped me greatly. It is doing all that you claim." Atty. Roderick Jones Argues Before the Ohio Supreme Court

Before the Supreme Court in Columbus, Friday, Attorney Roderick Jones, of the law firm of Jones & Jones, of this city, orally argued the constitutionality of the Allen liquor tax so far as it applies to dry counties. The case was taken from Newark and involves practically every saloon keeper going business. After they were found guilty of selling liquor and fined, the county treasurer collected the regular saloon tax from them and was upheld by the lower courts. This, it is claimed, is an abuse of the law, and should the Supreme Court decide with the lower tribunals there will be an appeal taken to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Heart and Home Talks by Barbara Boyd Looking Upward.

As Women Remedy Monotony.

THE moving man has a smile upon his face, as he surveys van-load after van-load of furniture being hauled from Brown Street to Redfield Street, and other van-loads being taken from Redfield Street to Brown Street; as Mrs. Jones engages him to move her from the city to the country, and Mrs. Smith from the country to the city. The moving man understands human nature, feminine human nature, that is; and that is the reason he went into the moving business.

It isn't that the house on Brown Street will be any better than the house on Redfield Street, or the one in the country more to one's liking than the abode in the city. The range will be just as sulky, the heater just as unmanageable, the neighbors no doubt, quite as noisy. But womanly weariness of the monotony of housework. And when she can't get a change in any other way, she moves. This at least gives her excitement, provides new interests, new scenes, new faces.

The orgies of shopping, some women indulge in, are but an expression of the same spirit of restlessness and discontent. They do not realize what is the matter with them. But they do realize that a new dress or a new hat brings a pleasurable excitement, and makes life more bracing living for a while. And so they rush to the shops.

It is a pity that women have to resort to such things as these to bring interest and variety into their lives. There are so many better, more worth while things with which to give zest to life—and not half the work and worry, either, of moving, for instance. If women would get some of these interests, home would be the sweetest, most restful place on earth to them. They would never want to move. They would never waste time and money on clothes and bric-a-brac and furniture they have no need of. The lower would be entirely swallowed up in the higher.

And these higher interests not only add joy and vividness to life, but they accomplish some good, which moving and useless shopping never do. There are hundreds of things in every city, in every village, in every community, needing women's interest and help. And they are not boring. They are not half so vexatious as moving, or getting a gown that doesn't fit or isn't becoming—not to mention what the head of the house will say when the bill comes in.

And if there are no such interests in a community, though it would be strange to find one nowadays without anything of the sort, start something interesting. Don't take to moving or shopping for excitement. Look about and see what your community needs that women can give it. Then get together those who want some interests outside of their household tasks, and throw yourself heart and soul into the work. Moving will lose all appeal. Shopping will become but a pilgrimage of necessity, and yet life will have all the color and sparkle that can be desired.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION OF WATCH THEFT

Patrolman Burke and Abbott recovered a gold watch Friday afternoon which is alleged to have been stolen from the bath room in Hotel Russell, Fourth and Canal street (Clarence) Dover, a Zanesville man, was arrested and charged with the theft of the time piece but denies his guilt and says that he is the victim of a "put-up job."

The facts are rather complicated and until a thorough investigation is made no action will be taken. Friday afternoon Landford Russell of the hotel notified Patrolman Burke that the watch had been stolen and that the suspected Dover, who was the only man in the bath room during the time the watch was there.

Mr. Russell stated that the watch was left hanging on a nail in the room and that after Dover, who was one of his guests, had left the room, the watch was missed.

Dover was found at the interurban station waiting for a Zanesville car.
From the first he denied taking the watch but his actions led the officers to believe that he knew something of the affair. He finally agreed to get the timepiece and conducted the policemen to an alley in the rear of the Auditorium where he lifted a board and removed the watch. He was locked up.

At the city prison, Dover insisted that it was a frame-up to get him into trouble. He said he put on his coat when he left the hotel and when at the station he reached into his pocket for some papers and found the watch. Fearing the police would be on his track he hustled out and concealed the watch.

He declares he can produce witnesses who will testify to his good character and the police are in a quandary whether to believe Dover or Russell.

MT. ZION.

A daring theft was committed here Tuesday. The junk men who passed through here stole a watch from the home of Wm. Mercer while he was at work in a field nearby. After discovering his loss Mercer started after the junk men, overtaking them near Ferry Chapel. When accused of taking the watch the men denied it, so Mercer started back home, and the junk men resumed their journey. They met Ed Burch and handed him a watch saying they had found it and that it belonged to a man at Mt. Zion.
Burch returned the watch to its own-

THE KING'S CORONATION.

The king sits high on his noble throne, and knights and ladies of high degree will smile or blanch at his lightest tone and bow and grovel and bend the knee. There's glowing splendor on every hand, it is a stirring and dazzling scene; and peers and princes of every land have come to jolly the king and queen. But the face of the monarch is sad and worn—the face of a man who has seldom laughed; perhaps he thinks it a thing to mourn that he was called to the reigning throne. Perhaps he envies the man who dikes, the man who dwells in a humble cot, with his milky cow and his bunch of pigs, and his apple tree and his garden plot. He may have dreams of a quiet life, afar from diamonds and thrones and silk, with his barefoot kids and his happy wife, who sings while skimming the morning milk. To ride to town on a load of hay and get two pun at the village scales may seem far better than holding sway o'er England, Scotland, Cork and Wales.
To live your life in the blinding glare that beats for aye on a throne and crown—ah, better to ride on an old roan mare, and carry three dozen of eggs to town. The faces of kings are always sad, their eyes are heavy, their whiskers gray; their souls are sick of the reigning fad—they'd like to ride on a load of hay.

the time."

OBITUARY

FUNERAL OF CHARLES A. ALLEN.

The funeral of the late Charles A.
Allen was held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home, and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. The services at the home were conducted by the Rev.
Joseph A. Bennett, pastor of the Fifth street Baptist church, and the funeral was under the auspices of Acme Lodge, No. 554, F. and A. M., of which the deceased was a member.
St. Luke's Commandery, No. 34, K.
T., acted as an honorary escort to Cedar Hill cemetery. With the death of Charles Allen there has passed from our midst one of Newark's best young men, a man who will live long in the memory of his friends.

FUNERAL OF WILLIAM BODINE.

The funeral of Wm. Bodine, who died Friday at the home of his son, Wm. C. Bodine, in Kenton, O., will take place Monday morning at 10 o'clock at Cedar Hill cemetery.

WISH OF THANKS.

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for their condolence and sympathy in the bereavement of our beloved son and brother. Also for the beautiful floral offerings and the words of comfort spoken by Rev. Mann. Mrs.
Martha Miller and Children.

SEC. FRAZIER NOW LOCATED AT SUMMER CAMP

J. W. Frazier, former secretary of the Newark Y. M. C. A., who has taken up work with the state department of this organization will make his summer home at Camp Buch, the summer camp of the association which is located fifteen miles north of Columbus. Mr. Frazier with his family is now located at the camp and Miss Ruth Frazier, who graduated with the 1911 class in the local high school left today to join her parents. It is learned that Mr. Frazier will also do special work for the state association in a number of minor towns in the central part of the state.

Will Be Sentenced To the Reformatory

Clerk E. M. Larson has received no word from Judge W. T. Devor, as to when he will sentence James Richardson, who was found guilty of manslaughter.

The sentence will be to the Mansfield Reformatory, as the defendant is under 21 years old and it is compulsory of the court to give this sentence.

A Charming Woman

Is one who is lovely in face, form, mind and temper. But it is hard for a woman to be charming without health. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and kidney poisoning show in pimples, hives, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to people who want health, beauty and friends.
They regulate stomach, liver and kidneys, purify the blood, give strength, nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion and perfect health. Try them.

SENATE LEARNS ABOUT PAPERS

They Are Told How Editors Do Their Work.

QUESTION OF NEWS VALUES.

General Manager of the Associated Press Tells Why Certain Facts Are Not Worth Printing—Public Antipathy to Newspapers Is Developed by Inquiry Before Committee.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, June 10.—[Special.]— Members of the senate committee on finance learned more than they ever knew before concerning the newspaper business on the day when the hearings on the reciprocity bill closed.
The senators discovered, among other things, that news associations are not permitted to color the news or make partisan reports. They also found that they had been mistaken in a number of matters regarding the publishing business and the methods of gathering and distributing the news.

One important fact that they learned upon inquiry was that a newspaper was not obliged to print every dispatch sent to it just as it was sent; that such a dispatch could be edited, cut down or thrown away; also that the news associations and the correspondents were not responsible for the headlines.

What Should Be Published.

Although not pertinent to the hearing, there was a discussion as to what newspapers should publish. The general manager of the Associated Press explained to Senator Bailey that if a pastor of a church should preach fifty-two sermons according to the doctrine of John Wesley there would not be news in the sermons, but if he should make an infidel plea it would be news.
The Texas senator was of the opinion that it would be better if the papers should print the good and leave out the bad, but other members of the committee recognized that papers were printing what the public demanded.

Stood Out Prominently.

What stood out prominently in the hearings was the general dislike of public men for the newspapers. How generally this is known there is some doubt, but no one can have read the hearings or the speeches or heard men talk about the Canadian reciprocity agreement without fully realizing that there is a general antipathy toward the newspapers, that they are tolerated as a necessary evil because they are protected by the constitution, but that upon the whole they are regarded as an agency of misrepresentation.

That is especially the attitude of a large number of men who oppose the Canadian agreement and hold the newspapers responsible for pushing it forward. The same feeling toward the so called muckraking magazines brought forward the proposition to increase the rates of postage on periodicals. The debates on the reciprocity bill will develop still further the bitter feeling of senators toward newspapers.

A Root Paradox.

One day when the senate showed that there was still a deadlock on the election of a president pro tem. Senator Root remarked that it was a good thing to show the country that the Republicans did not control the senate.

"While a majority of the senate are Republicans, there is not a Republican majority," he paradoxically said. In explanation he added that a majority of the senate called themselves Republicans and were Republicans on many questions, but on many others they were wide apart. As those questions upon which they divided were now up-most in the minds of the people and subjects of legislation there was not a Republican majority in the senate.

What He Said.

When Melville E. Stone of the Associated Press was before the finance committee Senator La Follette questioned him as to why the reports of Colonel Roosevelt's western tour were so meager. After explaining an unforeseen circumstance that tended to curtail the reports Stone added: "If you remember, senator, the colonel said only two really important things on that trip. At El Paso he said he was against the repeal, and a short time after at Los Angeles he said he was for the repeal."

"Glibly" changes," sentimentally remarked Senator Williams.

Long Standing Pair.

For a long time Senator Tillman has been paired with a Vermont senator.
First it was with Proctor, and when he died Dillingham became the pair of the South Carolina senator. Although much in evidence when he was in good health, Tillman was absent more or less during his early career, as he was often on the lecture platform.

Cullum a Wonder.

Day after day we marvel at the vitality of Senator Cullum of Illinois.
He is in his eighty-second year, and yet he continues to attend to his senatorial duties with fidelity. He is at his office in the foreign relations committee early and stays late. He has regularly attended the meetings of the finance committee for weeks during the long drawn out hearings, and he is in his seat in the senate day after day. For a man of his years and strength he is a wonder.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Pussy Cat Who Taught a Big Dog Manners

"HAD to give our dog a whipping today," said Evelyn. "He will chase cats, and I won't have the poor things scared out of their lives. He mends me in everything else, and he won't even play with other dogs if I tell him not to, but he can't let the poor pussies alone, and it makes me miserable to see them get so frightened that their poor tails get as big as their bodies."

"Ha, ha!" laughed daddy. "Don't you worry about their being scared. That's only put on. They simply don't want to go to the trouble of whipping the dog. But if this Rover of ours won't learn to behave himself I tell you what I'll do."

"I'll see a friend of mine and borrow his big cat, Snookums, and she'll do the chasing. She'll give a lesson not only to Rover, but to every dog in the neighborhood, and they'll learn to let cats alone for the rest of their lives."

"My friend owns also a big collie dog named Laddie, big enough and strong enough to eat up a dozen Snookums. And he's spunky too. He'll fight anything from a rat up to a tramp. But the cat is his boss, and he meekly admits it."

"When he is let out of the carriage house in the morning he naturally wants to run around and raise Cain. As long as he does this in the back yard it's all right, but the moment he gets so excited that he rushes into the front yard his troubles begin. His mistress' flower beds are there, and over these Snookums has made herself a special policeman, or, I suppose, we had better say, policeman."

"The first circle Laddie makes around the walk Snookums is after him, and fast as he can run she is faster, and more than that, she can turn quicker. In about half a minute she is on his back, holding on tight to his collar with one paw and slapping him over his ears with the other."

"And Laddie, with a wild howl, rushes into his own home, the back yard, again. Then Snookums jumps down, gives one final spit as if to say, 'Don't you ever do that again,' and goes back to the front porch to keep her watch over the flower beds."

"And, by the way, when her mistress walks into town Laddie is not her only protector. He stalks along at her right side, but Snookums trots along at her left, with her tail held so high and straight that it looks like the Washington monument."

"Oh, I wish you would borrow Snookums for awhile!" cried both the children.

"Well, I'll ask Mr. Hooker first time I see him," said daddy.

Grows hair, or money back, ask Evans' Drug Store.
"Parisian Sage is fine. There is nothing like it for removing dandruff, and it leaves the scalp so clean. It also stops that itching of the head."—Ethel L. Schuyler, R. F. D. No. 1, Belmont, N. Y., 1910.
Stops itching hair, or money back.
"I consider Parisian Sage one of the best hair tonics and beautifiers, dandruff cures and cleaner, that I have ever used."—Mrs. Katherine W. Johnson, Sheridan, Ind., 1910.
Stops itching scalp, or money back.
"I am pleased to say that Parisian Sage as a hair grower and beautifier, and as a dandruff cure and scalp cleaner, is fine."—Mrs. N. T. Clift, 210 N. Penn avenue, Greenfield, Ind., 1910.
Parisian Sage is the most refined and refreshing hair dressing in the world. It is not sticky or greasy, and the price is only 50 cents a large bottle at Evans' Drug Store and druggists everywhere. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

* ABE MARTIN SAYS: *

JOHN BIGELOW, 93, ILL OF OLD MALADY

John Bigelow, famous as diplomat and author, is dangerously ill in New York of an old malady and may not recover. He is ninety-three years old.

Ex-Editor Cafe Fluhart has come out in favor of the licensed saloon. He says a fellow will sometimes pay for his paper after he's been drinkin'.

One good thing about only havin' one suit of clothes is that you've allus got your lead pencil.

When Misfortune knocks at the door, few people are so polite as to ask her to call again.

The Cynical Bachelor rises to remark that love is frequently the result of a vivid imagination.

John Bigelow, famous as diplomat and author, is dangerously ill in New York of an old malady and may not recover. He is ninety-three years old.

GAIN IN THE ENUMERATION OF SCHOOL YOUTH

The four enumerators of youth in Newark of school age, viz: between 6 and 21 years, has been completed and will be submitted to the board of education at its next meeting. The record by wards is as follows, the total being 5847:
First ward 1309
Second ward 1050
Third ward 1570
Fourth ward 1918
The enumeration last year was 5701, which shows a gain of just 144. The enumerators were Rufus Putnam, Julia B. Smith, Mrs. Thomas Andrews and Mary L. Miller.

'CASCARETS' SPLENDID FOR ELDERLY FOLKS

The Rule for Old People Is—One Cascaret Daily. The Bowels, Like Other Muscles, Grow Less Active With Age. They Need Help.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. And most of them need them daily. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at sixty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a laxative can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. And there is no matter of choice here. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents per box.

Wigg—"Scribbler is a novel writer, isn't he?" Wagg—"Not very."

The Cynical Bachelor arises to remark that a woman's gaiter is almost as elastic as her conscience.

A woman's tears will always arouse a man's sympathy, unless he happens to be the cause of them.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

New Exercise For Women.
A new exercise that women are going in for who wish to keep supple waists is taking movements from side to side and forward and back with the waist line as the fulcrum in the manner of a pendulum. The exercise should be taken regularly for five or six minutes each day, preferably in the morning.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS WILL HOLD MEMORIAL SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Knights of Pythias Memorial services will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Cedar Hill cemetery. The members of both Newark and Roland lodges will meet at their hall in the Ankele building. They will then form on the South Side of the Public Square, march to the West Side of the Public Square, thence north to North Park Place, thence east to Second street, thence south to East Main, east on East Main street to Cedar street, and north to Cedar Hill cemetery. Immediately upon the arrival of the procession at the cemetery the committees that have been appointed for the purpose will decorate the graves of deceased brothers, after which all will assemble at the mound where the uniform rank will form in a triangle, and where the following program will be carried out, Mayor John M. Ankele presiding: Opening Ode—Led by the Band.

Short Ritualistic Services in memory of the absent brothers who are buried elsewhere.
Song by the Quartet, consisting of Messrs. Flora, Root, Myers and Welker.
Invocation by the Rev. J. Morrison Thomas.
Song by the Quartet.
Address by B. F. McDonald.
Song by the Quartet.
Closing Ode, led by the band.

A Dreadful Wound
From a knife, gun, tin can, rusty nail, fireworks or of any other nature, demands prompt treatment with Bucklen's Arnica Salve to prevent blood poison or gangrene. It's the quickest, surest healer for all such wounds, as also for burns, boils, sores, skin eruptions, eczema, chapped hands, corns or piles. 25c at F. D. Hall's.

NEWS OF THE GLASSWORKERS

The "Glassworker" comes out again this week with another fine grist of condensed news, that will be read by the glassworkers of Newark with the usual interest.
The McKee Glass Co.'s big tableware plant at Jeannette, Pa., has made a good run this season. Judging from present indications the working force will be very materially increased next season. An excellent volume of business is noted at this plant.
The Kelly lamp chimney plant, Tyro, Okla., is to be moved to Pawhuska, Oklahoma. The factory will be of 32-blower capacity.
The tank at the Bastow Mfg. Co.'s plant, Weston, W. Va., which burst recently, has been repaired and fires were to be lighted this week, preparatory to resumption.
The decision rendered by Judge Paulus against the Macbeth-Evans company in the matter of a suit entered by Louis Amama was affirmed on Friday of last week by the supreme court of Indiana.
The shops at the South Jersey Glass Works, Swedesboro, N. J., are finishing a good season's run. The tank is to be enlarged during the summer season and the plant will give employment to several additional shops next season.
The workers at the W. S. McKee mold shop, Pittsburgh, Pa., are being kept busily employed. The past season has been a good one and a large amount of business has been transacted by this well known concern.
According to advices received yesterday from Tarentum, Pa., the plant the Allegheny Plate Glass Co. at Glassmere will not be closed down, but will continue to operate during the summer months as usual.
Every factory at Millville, N. J., started the season last September and continuous operation has been the rule ever since. A good volume of business is noted.
Nearly every glass bottle factory in the Pittsburgh district is rushed with orders and will continue in blast until the end of June. Quite a number will finish the season with unfilled orders on the books.
The Olney Bottle Co., Olney, Ill., were obliged to end the blast recently, owing to a serious break in their tending tank. Repairs are being made by the company.
After being in operation about a week the shops at the Pleasantville, O., window glass plant were compelled to stop blowing for a few days in order to make some necessary changes in the flattening department. The factory is again in blast.
The work of moving the large concrete smoke stack of the Illinois Glass Co., Alton, Ill., has been delayed until the new power plant is completed.
It is reported that 12 more off-hand shops will be put to work at Gill Bros. lamp chimney factory, Toronto, Ohio, on Monday of next week, making a total of 36 shops employed in that department.
A steady run is being registered at Ripley & Co.'s tableware factory, Connelville, Pa., and a satisfactory volume of business is reported.
The past season has been a good one at the Fostoria Glass Co.'s works, Mountsville, W. Va., and present indications point to a short shutdown during the summer.
The tableware factory of the Imperial Glass Co., Bellaire, O., is operating as usual and it is thought that the shutdown period this year will be very brief.
The Headley Glass Co., Danville, Ill., are ending the blast with 16 shops on flint prescription bottles, liquor ware, beers and sodas.

ODD FELLOWS MEMORIAL AT GRANVILLE

Address Will Be Delivered at Hall by Rev. Evans—News of the Thriving Little Village.
Granville, June 10.—The Odd Fellows Memorial services will be held on Sunday, June 11, at 2:30 o'clock at the Opera House. The members of the order will meet at their hall at 2:00 o'clock and will march to the hall where they will take the seats that will be reserved for them. The Rev. Mr. Evans, pastor of the Methodist church, will deliver the address. There will be singing by Miss Rose. At the conclusion of the services the Odd Fellows and members of Spring Valley Rebekah lodge will march to Maple Grove cemetery, where the graves of deceased members will be decorated. The Granville band will furnish the music for the occasion.
Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Ashbrook and son B. G. Ashbrook are in attendance at the United Commercial Travelers' convention, being held in Zanesville.
Miss Rachel Jones has accepted a position for next year as teacher in the high school at Pawhuska Point in Belmont county.
Misses Alice Cox, Ruby Hoyt, Ruth Davenport and Mary Louise Chamberlain have been visiting their Psi Chi Delta sisters here this week.
Miss Florence Beckel of Columbus attended commencement exercises in Granville this week.
Mrs. Benjamin Woodberry of Columbus, has been visiting here during the past week, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Geach.
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Horton and son of Champaign, Ill., have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horton, on Granger street during the past week.
The regular W. C. T. U. meeting will be held at the County Infirmary on Tuesday, June 19, instead of June 9. The meeting will be held at 2:30 o'clock, and it is requested that there be a good attendance.
Mrs. Clarence Eddy and daughter, of Urbana, have been visiting in Granville during the past week the guests of Rev. and Mrs. C. N. Harford.
Miss Ada Chrysler, who has been teaching at Lake Crystal, Minn., during the past year, is home to spend the summer vacation.
Mrs. Edward Longbridge of Cheyenne, Wyoming, is visiting at the home of her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Wille.
Dr. R. S. Colwell has gone to Booth-Bay Harbor, Me., where he will remain for the summer. The other members of the family will join him later.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitmore and son of Akron, who were here for commencement, were the guests of Prof. and Mrs. W. A. Chamberlain.

LABOR NEWS

The next regular meeting of the Newark Trades and Labor Assembly will be tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. There will be a volume of business that must be disposed of.
The last meeting was called to order by First Vice President W. W. Litten, but little business was disposed of as several of the delegates had made arrangements to go to Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Zanesville, and session was adjourned.
All committees will file their reports for the year tomorrow, being the annual election of officers. The general labor day committee will make a very interesting report for we must get busy now for there is lots of work for all if we would have the grandest celebration Newark ever had.
It was the pleasure of the writer to meet with the officers and members of Clerks' Union, No. 178 at their regular meeting last Monday evening, although very warm a large turnout of the brothers was had, and one of the most interesting features of the session was the initiation of five new members. The president, Brother Ora Warrington, gave the new applicants the third in a very pleasing manner.
The officers are as follows: President Ora Warrington; recording secretary, W. H. Hershberger; financial secretary, the old veteran, C. A. Bope. Brother Samuel Sachs was appointed on the general labor day committee of the Trades Assembly. It surely was pleasant to meet the old wheelhorses in unionism, Brothers Frank Cain, Joseph Fulk and J. C. Ditter. The cigars these brothers keep on tap are of the best quality.

THE BUSINESS GIRLS' CLUB

The Business Girls' Club, situated at No. 15 North Fifth street, completed the first ten months of its existence May 1, although the house was not practically opened until the first of last August, instead of July as planned, owing to the resignation of the matron engaged.
The house with its large pleasant yard, wide verandas on both first and second floors, and central location makes an ideal home for the self-supporting girl, and the experience of the ten months confirm our opinion that an institution of this kind is an advantage to the city and fills a real need of some of our young women. The number of regular boarders has varied from four to ten.
In furnishing the house we were helped to a great extent by donations of furniture from our friends, but, of course, there were many things for which a cash outlay was necessary. An itemized list of receipts and expenditures is in the hands of the matron which is at the service of any of our interested friends. A brief summary of general information, the itemized list being too lengthy for this article. Total receipts in cash for ten months $1,014.30

WILD WEST SHOW BY LOCAL TALENT VERY PLEASING

A large audience was present Friday afternoon at Fitzgibbons' field on the Mt. Vernon road, to witness the Wild West show given by J. K. Hamill Jr., and W. F. Fitzgibbon. The show was a good one and the large crowd of youngsters and many older ones, too, went into ecstasies over the program, which included novel and stupendous feats of equitation, marksmanship and lariat manipulations. There was a pony express, the Deadwood coach, the horse thief's fate, in fact, a perfect portraiture of pioneer nerils in the wild and woolly west. There were hair-raising feats of desperate daring, participated in by cowboys, cowgirls and Indians, and a whole herd of ponies made it a delight for those in attendance.

Baby's Voice

Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is regarded as a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents caking of the breasts, and in every way contributes to a strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers.

DON'T BE EMBARRASSED.

Nothing causes a person more embarrassment than the knowledge that some part of their attire needs apology. Dirty linen is the most common and inexcusable fault, and as long as strong rosin soaps are used in the laundry, streaked washables are inevitable.
Hewitt's Easy Task—the original white laundry soap—is the best clean linen guarantee obtainable. Multitudes of women say so. And you'll agree after a trial. Ask your grocer. Five cents a cake.

Indiana, Pa.: Gus Yusekneberg owns a quadruped black Minoree hen. The fowl uses two legs to stand upon and the other two to scratch for food. The extra legs are just behind the normal ones.

Pottsville, Pa.: A swarm of big rats invaded the primary schoolroom here and caused a panic among the children. A rat terrier managed to rout the enemy. Several children were slightly bitten by the rodents.

Common Pleas Court. On Saturday the court listened to arguments of counsel in the case of Little Ward vs. Thomas Ward. Plaintiff sues to recover alimony and asks that the court fix the amount which she should be allowed.

THE TOBACCO DECISION.

If there was good reason for laymen as well as lawyers to read the decision in the Standard Oil case, there is at least equally good reason why they should read the decision in the Tobacco case. On the whole, it is rather better reading—a trifle shorter, and, we think, decidedly clearer. The court had evidently taken account of the criticism evoked by the earlier decision and made a special effort to put strongly and plainly the particular view of the anti-trust law which had been most widely challenged. We think it has measurably succeeded, and here is the sentence which will probably have to be taken for a long time to come as embodying the court's notion of how that law should be construed:

"In other words, it was held, not that the acts which the statute prohibited could be removed from the control of its prohibitions by a finding that they were reasonable, but that the duty to interpret which inevitably arose from the general character of the term 'restraint of trade' required that the words 'restraint of trade' should be given a meaning which would not destroy the individual right to contract and render difficult, if not impossible, any movement of trade in the channels of interstate commerce—the free movement of which it was the purpose of the statute to protect.

That is not a very simple sentence, but we think we can understand it. We also think that the court was right in denying that it had read the word 'reasonable' into the statute. What it had really done was to insist that the language as it stands must have a 'reasonable' construction. —Harper's Weekly.

IT PREVENTS SORENESS.

Seventeen years ago few people knew of such a preparation as a powder for the feet. Today, after the genuine merit of Allen's Foot-Ease has been told year after year in the Advocate and other papers over the country, there are millions who would as soon go without a dentifrice as without the daily use of Allen's Foot-Ease. NEW INDICTMENTS

(4) The use of the telephones of the general assembly for long-distance conversations in regard to private matters and the charging of the expenses thereof to the state.

Asserting the charges that the attempted bribe from State Senators John C. Drake of Erie county and W. L. Atwell of Licking county to vote against the Rose county option bill, three years ago, were false, Senator Dean characterized them as "the joke of the century."

The charge was first sprung during the political campaign of 1908. Dean beat Drake for a renomination in his senatorial district. Drake had been a champion for the Rose county option law. Likewise Atwell was defeated for renomination on the temperance issue by his party.

At Sandusky, Atwell and Drake gave out a joint statement in which they charged Dean acted as intermediary to the meeting between themselves and a "prominent Columbus politician" (Ex-Mayor Bond). For two campaigns in which Senator Dean was a candidate the charge was hurled and rebuffed. He was elected both times nevertheless.

"If you'll look in the Ohio State Journal of Oct. 8, 1908, you'll find this charge," said Senator Dean when asked yesterday by an interviewer what he had to say regarding the indictments. "It's politics. From those indictments I must have been a man of some power able to promise a man thousands of dollars and to promise Democrats and Republicans nominations and elections without opposition. Atwell, I am told, is a Republican. I don't know him. The only possible time when Mayor Bond and I ever met these two men was one day in the Neil House, three years ago. That was shortly after Bond became mayor. We four sat at dinner together and came out together. Anson Bond wouldn't know either of them now. The charges are ridiculous."

BOND DENTIES CHARGE.

Cleveland, O., June 10.—Charles A. Bond, indicted by the Franklin county grand jury in connection with Senator Dean, for attempting to bribe two senators to influence their votes on the Rose county local option bill two years ago, branded the indictment as utterly groundless.

Bond is in communication with his attorney, here and Columbus, and later issued the following statement: "If it's really true, as reported, that an indictment has been found against me in connection with the liquor legislation or any other legislation, I must say that the charge is not only outrageously false, but ridiculous as well. I am convinced that the Franklin county prosecutor and grand jury have been the victims of a fabrication made from the whole cloth."

"I shall start immediately for Columbus and will demand that the grand jury resume its inquiry into the facts respecting the matter. I am satisfied that upon even an expert investigation the absurdity and utter groundlessness of the accusation will become apparent.

CONGRESSIONAL BOOM

OF Senator Dean Killed, Say Leaders of Thirteenth District.

Sandusky, O., June 10.—The announcement of the indictment against Senator Dean comes as a blow to the Democracy of the Thirteenth District, the leaders having agreed some time ago that the Fremont county legislator was the most likely candidate for congress to succeed Representative Carl C. Anderson of Fostoria, who is serving his second term.

While they do not believe him guilty, they admit that the mere fact that he stands indicted will more than likely necessitate his retirement from the political arena. Some openly declare that he is the victim of a "plot to kill him off."

The Drake accusation upon which the indictment against Dean is based has been a matter of general knowledge here for two years.

There was a strong protest against Drake from Sandusky county, the claim being made that in voting for the Rose law he had betrayed the wine interests, which is a leading industry in that region. This is the reason that Senator Dean was nominated against Drake.

OLD TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

Gives Color, Lustre to Faded and Gray Hair—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

From time immemorial, sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost everyone knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair, for curing dandruff and falling hair and for making the hair grow.

In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories.

The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this sort, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

MOONBUILDERS PARK.

The benefit for the stage employees at Moonbuilders Park continues to draw large audiences nightly, and the plays have been giving splendid satisfaction. A new bill will be given Sunday and the theatre employees hope to see a crowded house. The stage employees will also have charge of the park next week and a representative is at Zanesville today endeavoring to secure a large musical attraction.

CAPTURED MAN AFTER HE HAD ONCE ESCAPED

Some time ago a warrant was issued by Justice W. F. Holton of this city, on complaint of John Coon, of Mary Ann township, for the arrest of Ray Kidwell, on the charge of assault with intent to kill. Kidwell managed to elude service of the warrant, as the officers were unable to locate him. Finally Squire Holton learned that Kidwell was working on an oil well on the farm of Silas Hilleary, in Eden township. He immediately placed the warrant in the hands of Sheriff Slaught for service. The sheriff lost no time in starting after his man and at 6 o'clock Friday evening he left for Eden township, accompanied by Henry Rinehart. Upon arriving at the oil well Kidwell was located, but escaped from the officers and took to the woods. The sheriff and his deputy lay in wait in the woods for Kidwell until after midnight, when their man arrived in camp and went to bed in his tent. The sheriff then arrested him and he was brought to Newark and placed in the county jail to await his hearing before Justice Holton.

ECZEMA

and when I say cured, I mean just that. I say—cured—cured, and not merely that it is relieved up for awhile, to return worse than before. Remember I make this broad statement after putting ten years of my life on this one disease and having in the mean time a quarter of a million cases of this dreadful disease. Now, I do not care what all you have used, nor how many doctors have told you that you could not be cured. All I ask is just a chance to show you that I know what I am talking about. If you will write me TODAY, I will send you a FREE TRIAL of my mild, soothing, guaranteed cure, that will convince you more in a day than for anyone else could in a month's time. If you are disgusted and discouraged, I dare you to give me a chance to prove my claims. By writing me today you will enjoy more real content than you had ever thought it would hold for you. Just try it and you will see I am telling you the truth. Dr. J. E. Cunningham, 1421 Park Square, Sedalia, Mo. References: Third National Bank, Sedalia, Mo. CITY SEALER OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

New Department of City Government Has Been Busy Place and Much Good Has Been Accomplished.

City Sealer of Weights and Measures Frank Caine paid a high compliment to Newark grocers and other business men in an interview with an Advocate reporter when he said that very few of the grocers and other business men were found using scales and measures not up to the standard.

In fact, according to Mr. Caine, there were nearly as many whose scales were found giving too much, according to the standard, as were giving short weights.

This department of the city government is a comparatively new one and has been in operation but a few months. During that time all the scales and measures of established business houses and institutions have been inspected and sealed.

It is true that a number of measures and scales have been condemned, but the number is small compared to that reported in other cities. It is probable that there are not more than 50 measures and scales confiscated altogether.

Of this number the largest majority of them are the "open bottom" dry measures commonly used in the grocery stores. None of these are permitted under the new law. These measures come up to the standard, probably regarding the number of cubic inches contained, but the measures are so narrow that the vegetables and fruit measured in them does not pack well and the customer pays for a lot of air space that is not delivered.

The measures are deeper than the closed bottom measures of the same capacity and are made that way to allow them to be placed in a paper sack and filled.

Another source of annoyance to the sealer is the cheap spring scale which ordinarily has a small set screw at the top by which it is adjusted. The dealers selling by such scales state that this screw permits the user to set any kind of a receipt on the scale and adjust the scale to zero and weigh butter, etc., in the receptacle.

This pattern of scale is prohibited by the department. It is stated that there is too much of a chance for the user of such scales to change the adjustment of the scale after the instrument has been sealed.

The worst case of fraud unearthed by the sealer is a spring scale of German manufacture, called the "half moon" spring balance. It has two dials or gauges and two hooks. The article to be weighed is placed on one hook and one side of the dial is to be read for the correct weight. The other side of the dial will register but half the correct weight. Even when read correctly such an instrument when tested with a 20-pound standard weight was found to be 7 pounds too light.

This scale was secured from a rag buyer, and it is understood that until the sealer went to work there were a number of them in use. After this instrument was confiscated the word was passed around and the scales disappeared. They will be confiscated as fast as the sealer gets sight of them.

According to Mr. Caine, these scales have been prohibited in Germany, where they are manufactured, but until recent years they have been used freely in this country.

A complete set of standard measures and weights has been purchased for the sealer by the city. The standard scales are neatly contained in a hard wood case which may be carried about. Brass weights from 1-16 to 2 pounds are placed in neat compartments and great care is taken to prevent corrosion or rusting, so they may not decrease in weight. This bit of equipment cost the city $66.

A set of dry measures cost $3 and the liquid measures cost $30. They are kept in the sealer's office in the city building, where all measures of this kind are brought to be tested and sealed. In testing dry measures dry peas are used. The standard measure is filled level full of the peas and emptied into the receptacle to be tested. If it conforms with the standard a steel die is used to apply the seal.

A lead seal, similar to those used in sealing a freight car, is attached to the scales when they are tested and found to conform to the standard.

One test made by the sealer was of a scale used to weigh salt. The action of the salt on the weights had so corroded them that the test showed that they were from 1 to 3 ounces light and that the dealer was cheating himself on every sale.

None of the computing scales were found to give short weight. In fact, after a certain weight, they were found to give from 10 to 15 per cent more than was demanded. As a result, representatives of the factory visited the city and made repairs on all the incorrect scales, so the dealers would not defraud themselves any more.

According to a statement made by these inspectors, a law passed by the last legislature prohibited the spring balance computing scale and this fact was used by them in boosting their own product, saying that as soon as the local sealer was notified that the spring scale had been prohibited the city would be compelled to order them discontinued.

Mr. Caine states that very few disagreeable scenes resulted from his recent tour of inspection. He said in most cases the users of scales and measures were glad of the opportunity to have their measuring devices tested and sealed and helped him in every way possible.

The big wagon scales remain to be tested. The appropriation by the city council for use in this department failed to provide for a means of transporting the heavy weights used for this purpose from place to place. These weights each weigh 50 pounds and there are a dozen or more of them. Therefore it would require a wagon to haul them from the scene of one test to another.

The city council in its appropriation for the coming six months will probably take this into consideration in appropriating money for this department, and will see that sufficient money is provided for the testing of the big scales.

The state department of weights and measures in a letter to Mr. Caine complimented him upon the selection he made in his standards. The manufacturers of the equipment used in this city are the leaders in that line and all their measures pass the government standard.

Not a day passes but sees some one bringing the measures or scales to the city sealer for his inspection and approval. A huckster yesterday brought a new pair of scales from a local hardware merchant and they failed to stand the test. They could not be charged with short weight, but there was evidently something wrong with the beam, though they balanced heavy, all the weights were heavy and their use would defraud the dealer and not the customer. They were returned by the purchaser and exchanged for an instrument that would stand the test.

A CHEERFUL STRAP-HANGER. Every man who gives his seat in a street car to a lady is not actuated by politeness. In lots of cases his flannel underwear has been shrunk by being washed with poor soap, and standing is more comfortable.

If Hewitt's Easy Task Soap is used, flannels go through the wash without being shrunk and retain their original downy softness. It's five cents a cake and goes farther.

AN OLD FEUD IS REVIVED

Complaints have been made at the mayor's office that the Baker-Schackelford feud which resulted in a serious assault last summer, has again broken out, though no harm has been done to either parties of the trouble. The reports state that some one has been shooting in the vicinity of the Baker home, and Baker, in his complaint to the police blames the Schackelfords. The police families live in the vicinity of Granville street and King avenue. It is hoped that any serious difficulty between these two families will be averted.

PREDICTS ADJOURNMENT. Washington, June 10.—Senator Smoot today predicted that the senate would vote on reciprocity by July 16 and that congress would be adjourned by July 27.

GOOD NEWS.

Many Newark Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad back sufferers in Newark are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

F. Lisey, Newark, O., says: "I was afflicted with kidney complaint, and my back was so sensitive that I was in misery when I attempted to get up after sitting. Sharp pains often darted through me and other symptoms of kidney complaint were in evidence. This trouble resisted every treatment until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me permanently and I have no hesitation in confirming all I have previously said in their praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name — Doan's — and take no other. 26
